The RON thermal bottle is an excellent choice for active people who value both convenience and functionality. It will be ideal for training and spontaneous outings. The bottle is equipped with a carabiner and two lanyards: a short and a long lanyard to alternate, allowing for comfortable carrying and easy adaptation to different situations. Simply wear it on your wrist when running or hang it on your back when hiking. In addition, the RON bottle has a closure with a practical storage compartment for small items (such as tablets or dietary supplements). The unique plastic base, which becomes an additional cup when unscrewed, eliminates the risk of burning your tongue and allows you to drink more comfortably.
